Computer Science 101 Version of "Let It Go" by Demi

The screen glows white on my eclipse tonight
Not a line of code to be seen
Another hard APT
And I don't see any green
Consulting hours are calling like a swirling storm inside
Couldn't do It alone
Heaven knows I tried

Don't understand
What is a key?
The TA's are already sick of me
My name's on the board
Number forty-three
TA's please help me

How to code, how to code
I was not expecting this workload

How to code, How to code
Should've signed up for a tutor before!
I don't care
If this takes all day
Let consulting hours rage on!
My other classes aren't relevant anyway

It's funny how some assignments
Make my intelligence feel small
And the skills I thought I once had Can't help me, not at all

It's time to see what I can do
To take the final and break through
A strip, a for-loop, a dictionary,
And then I'm free!

How to code, how to code
I suck at this but I'll try
How to code, how to code

Susan please don't make me cry
This was not what I planned
But I'll find my way
Let Comp Sci rage on!

My knowledge grows and I have finally found
A way to use recursion functions all around
And then I get regular expressions without having to ask!
I'm never going back, consulting hours are in the past!

I can code, I can code
It's only taken me this entire course
I can code, I can code
Now I don't feel any remorse
In just six days
Winter break awaits
Let Comp Sci rage on!
I'm not taking 201 anyway
