

~ODE TO CS 101~

A Poem by Sara Burpeau

The first day of class!
What's there to learn?
A new language Python,
I have mild concern.
I've learned R before
It was quite tough
Well here we go!
Hope it's not too rough.

If statements and for loops,
Tuples, integers, floats
WOTO break out groups,
Lots of pages of notes.
I learned how to store things
In dictionaries and lists!
Indexing strings
Making new combos exist.

There are APTs to do!
Start with steps one through four.
Starting my code on paper,
Means more green for sure!
Assignments to turn in,
Like Totem and Turtles,
Asking TAs for help
To get over the hurdles.

I sure learned a lot
In CS 101.
This class really showed me,
That coding is fun!
I'm excited to learn more,
As I continue my degree.
Think I'll take 216,
Everything Data for me!

Thank you Prof Rodger and Washington
For such a great class!
It is truly wild,
How quickly it passed.
