Assignment 7: Poem

“Try it!”, they all said

“Give it a go!”

“You’ll never know how much this class will help you grow!”

So, into my bookbag COMPSCI 101 went,

a little scared I would resent the content

However, here I am, months and months later and I am the furthest thing from a programming hater!

Although there have been tears shed, and sleepless nights away from my bed

The joy from the beautiful little green boxes is worth all the headaches getting them causes

And I cannot forget

how I made amazing friends for loop, sets, dictionaries, and the list further extends

All of which helped me eliminate bug after bug

Which felt as great as a wonderfully warm hug

“Do I regret taking COMPSCI 101??”, they all ask

And to that question I exclaim:

“Not even a little, and I am proud of the programmer I became!!”
