Dear Java

You are like the sunrise
One that is beautifully laid out
One that was once a blank black paper

Your beauty sneaks in minute by minute
Black background turning colorful
Blue, orange, and a hint of purple

When you are finally here
And your painting is complete
You are the most beautiful thing
One that is painted complete without the smallest error

Oh Java,
Remember the days we spent all night
Together to complete the code
Now that I can finally see your sunrise
I shall enjoy my cup of coffee
