I signed up for CS 101 with a little fright

Only to learn it's truly a beginners delight

APT's, WOTOs, assignments, and quizzes

By the end you'll all be CompSci whizzes

The work is plentiful but its genuinely fun

When that page lights up green you know you've won

Initializations then iterations

For loops and while loops are mega sensations

Appending or adding you can make things with ease

Code, debug and debug some more, be patient please

It seems like just yesterday my coding knowledge was zero

But now I can use dot products to recommend movies, I'm a hero

I've created games that are adaptive and fun

My, how on Python Tutor I like watching the If statements run

I entered this course with no expectation

But hundreds of problems later CS is my desired occupation

To 201 for Java and beyond I set out

I love everything CompSci is about
