

The teacher starts with simple code,
An "if" statement == mode.
And as the students type along,
The language begins to become a song.

Tuples and function, classes include,
A world of syntax, confusing and new.
The logic flows from brain to screen,
And soon, a program's born and seen.

Then comes Hangman and soon AI,
The language begins to amplify.
And as they learn, students start to dream
Of what they'll build and what they'll scheme.